

What is the Internet?

It is a system of interconnected networks¹. For some people it is a source² of information; for others, it is a means of communication. What do you use the Internet for? Here are some of the things you can do on the Internet, the first letters will help you to find them out: w _____, s _____, m _____, w _____, v _____, d _____, m _____, s _____ for i _____

Do you know how old is it? Well, it was developed for the US army in 1969 when it was called the ARPAnet. There were four supercomputers interconnected and it was a computer net working against nuclear attack. In the 80's it was spread³ to universities and became a part of people's lives. Once it was opened to the general public⁴, people adopted the Internet in four years.

old use the Internet daily. In the EU, 75% of children aged 6 to 17 years already use the Internet. Their parents speak to them about the dangers of their online activities like giving personal information to people they do not know.

The internet is well-known in all parts of the world now. We can click or type a www address and then we get a lot of information. But there is one danger. Although we have a large amount⁷ of information, not all of it is

People sometimes call the Internet "the web". Is there any difference between these two terms? The Internet is a global data communications system. It is the hardware and software that provides connectivity between computers. In contrast, the Web is one of the services communicated via the Internet. It is a collection of interconnected documents and other resources⁵.

relevant⁸. We can be overloaded⁹ with needless information. On the other hand – the internet is the largest source of information in the world.

And how many people use the Internet worldwide? Out of 6,767,805,208, there are 1,733,993,741 (25.6%) Internet users. In Slovakia, 62% of all households⁶ are connected to the net. Young Slovak people between 16 and 24 years

1 netw^o:ks – sieť/sieť; 2 so:s – zdroj; 3 spred – rozšírit'/rozšířit; 4 ,dženərl pablk – široká verejnosť/veřejnost; 5 ri'so:siz – zdroje; 6 haushəulds – domácnosti; 7 ə'maunt – rozsah, množstvo/množství; 8 releəvənt – významný, dôležitý/důležitý; 9 əu've'ləudi:d – preťažená, pod veľkým náporom/přetížená, pod velkým náporom